

Next global Air security program

Safety procedures and measures are best on approved standards, national laws and regulations, and best practices in the aviation industry.

